Within our WORLD...

Our world at Wingate . . .

Our aims . . . desires . . . joys . . . storms . . .

The climate is created by emotions and the situations we become involved in.

Our terrain is represented by mountains of work . . . valleys of pleasure . . . streams of social activities . . .
placid pools of smiles on every side.

Ours is an isolated world.
To us our problems seem as much or more important than general worldly ones.

Our leaders are the faculty, guiding us in situations that duplicate those in the outer world.

Here we learn to face another world . . .
larger problems . . . greater responsibilities . . .
but for now, this is our world . . . to learn and to grow in . . . a world of opportunity in one word . . .

How will we face the difficulties? Can we rise? What does the coming year offer in

The Library and the Wingate Baptist Church present a very picturesque background for Nettie and Bill's conversation.

With the first touch of frost in the air, we are still reluctant to give up the summer and turn to the serious business of adjusting to a new environment . . . a new world. We came on campus excited and uncertain . . . sad to leave the fun of summer . . . but thrilled by the thought of our much dreamed about future.

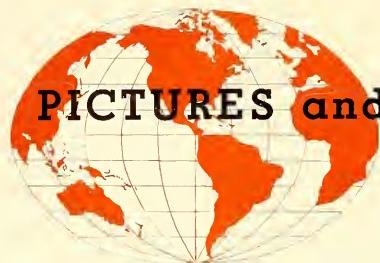

Registration . . . introductions . . . new friends . . . classes . . . gradually we fell into the swing of things. Our life began to fall into routine . . . learning through our teachers and associations with various types of people . . . We grew in mind . . . and in our social and religious life. Neither is neglected at Wingate.

"a YEAR to be remembered"

Duran McDonald, President of the student body, bids farewell as the bus leaves for a football game.

Our first memories of Wingate . . . an unfamiliar campus . . . loneliness . . . a lost feeling . . . but soon the world begins to look bright and friendly. The sophomore counselors are all over the place . . . "Oh, how wonderful it must be to be a Sophomore, familiar with the campus and sophisticated enough not to feel lost and scared." Smiles are exchanged, names pass from smiling lips and so friendships begin that are to mean much to us in the year to come at Wingate. While the lost Freshman dreams of being a confident Sophomore, the upperclassman looks at the new faces and wonders "will I be able to adjust . . . I feel out of place . . . it's their year . . . things will be different . . . most of my old friends are gone . . . will I be able to replace them? Will I fit into the campus routine? . . . or will I fail miserably?" A tenseness on both sides and then a gradual warming up . . . soon an easy familiarity and friendships blossom. Banter is exchanged over the dinner table, visits between various rooms become a nightly habit and our world is a warm friendly place.

As the year progresses we share more experiences together. We cheer our teams onward to victory or mourn for their losses and our bands of friendship tighten. Holidays and away we go, cheered at the thought of home and family, but saddened at leaving our companions. Soon we are back again and life begins anew. Classes, friends, our familiar routine and the days fly. Before we have recovered from Christmas, exams are upon us and then without catching our breath we head home for Spring Recess. When we return to school we bring a small nagging thought . . . "time is flying faster all the time, soon we'll leave. Will I ever see some of these people again? Can my life ever be the same? I'll always have an empty place in my heart for the friends I'll lose in May" . . . and life goes on.

ACQUAINTANCES

Faced with the task of getting settled in her room, Joy Hahn takes time out to chat with Jean Rush and Nancy Horton.

grow into friendships...

Dean G. G. Gerding congratulates members of the play cast, Arsenic and Old Lace.

Dr. Budd E. Smith, our president, discusses Wingate's future growth with one of Monroe's outstanding business men, Mr. Plyler.

In our world we come to depend upon our teachers, friends and organized life. Eight o'clock classes become a routine and we go from class to class without checking a schedule. Teachers enrich our minds with facts about scientific matter, chapel speakers contribute to our spiritual life, and growth becomes a part of life. We lose our fear of school, this new life and we come to depend upon the warm friendly smiles, the gay greetings and the sense of belonging that exemplifies our life in our world at Wingate.

NEWNESS

Sanders-Sykes Auditorium

Wingate's cafeteria is the busiest spot on the campus from 11:30 to 1:00 p.m. each day.

fades into routine...

May we never forget..

Our first day on campus . . . Sophomore Counselors . . . Registration and spending money right and left . . . a new roommate . . . "will we be compatible?" the $64,000 question . . . the arrival of Sophomores . . . a flurry of greetings and then the roll call begins . . . all over the campus we hear, "will it be the same without . . ." and life goes on just the same . . . classes . . . chapel

Linda McCumbee pauses in front Cannon Hall with her escort Jerry Cenble before going to the football stadium for the Homecoming Day Program.

Miss Linney and Mr. McLean supervise the Sophomore Counselors in scoring the freshman placement tests.

Joe Wright congratulates Wingate's pro, Norman Chambers, on his victory.

The Student Center is the meeting place for Wingate Students any time of day.

. . . study . . . fun . . . ingredients in an exciting new concoction for the Freshmen . . . a second helping for the Sophomores . . . fall . . . Indian Summer . . . football . . . campus heroes . . . "Someone in the stands shouted hurrah for Wingate!" . . . Thanksgiving . . . an unexpected holiday and fifteen raths for Dr. Smith . . . pre-Christmas parties . . . caroling and hot chocolate . . . exchanging presents . . . tearful good-byes . . . a short vacation and then a joyful reunion with semester exams.

The weather becomes warmer and everyone comes down with spring fever. Winter woolens are cast aside and cottons again appear on campus. Our world is new and green and life begins afresh. Love blooms on campus and baseball fever hits all the boys. The weather becomes warmer and every afternoon is spent at the pool. Suddenly before you know it exams stare you in the face and everyone begins to burn the midnight oil. Exams are over and we worry about grades and packing. The Sophomore worries about quality points and graduation and the Freshmen are filled with regret at losing their Sophomore friends. Graduation arrives—tears—goodbyes—and friends part, perhaps never to meet again and we are left with a wealth of memories and an enriched life.

Sunshine and shadows . . . adding beauty to the Wingate library in the distance.

Under the able leadership

A Message to the Students of 1960-61

You have become a part of Wingate College, and Wingate College has become a part of you. We wish for each of you the very best that life offers as you devote your intelligence, initiative, imagination, industriousness, and integrity to everything that you do in the years ahead. You will find that development in your life will continue; and it will have greater meaning as you realize the importance of remembering to give yourselves away—give of your time, give of your material gains, and give of your best thoughts.

There is no place for a Wingate student in the list of failures in life. We hope that you have learned the dangers of procrastination, inability to adapt, of giving in to defeat, and sophistication. Truly, life is one of success and happiness when we are never content but always discontent with our present achievements.

So, as you move into the world and find success don't forget your Alma Mater, the school that has given you a beginning, and the teachers who have given you of their best. All of us shall continue to remember you in our thoughts and in our prayers as we move ahead.

DR. BUDD E. SMITH
President

of our President, Wingate continues to grow . . .

Dr. Budd E. Smith has been the spearhead for every endeavor Wingate College has undertaken since 1953, the year in which he became president. Wingate has awakened to stretch her arms and to increase her size threefold. This year alone has seen the dedication of the chapel-auditorium, a new student union, and the renovation of the residence for men.

Wingate's president has exhibited that extra something which makes nothing he sets out to accomplish impossible. He is a man with a purpose. His weapons are faith, hope, integrity in his fight for a greater Wingate College.

Dr. Budd E. Smith congratulates Curtis Threat on his athletic achievements.

Dr. Smith is not only a good administrator, but also an understanding friend to the Wingate students.

Administrative Leaders

Dr. Burris has always had the reputation for making friends and keeping them. In addition to having the respect and admiration of everyone who knows him, his most outstanding attribute is his ability to be a friend. His Christian philosophy has brightened more paths and calmed more fears for bewildered students than anyone will ever know.

His many years may have succeeded in whitening his hair and slowing his step, but to compensate, they have increased Dr. Burris' wisdom and enriched his life.

DEDICATION

Past Director of the Baptist Student Union; able instructor of history; a willing counselor; true friend . . . Miss Betsy Brooks McGee is all this, and more.

No matter how busy, how tired, or how rushed Miss McGee may be, she always has time for a brilliantly friendly smile and a cheery hello. She has a moment to spare for a word of encouragement to spur us on to higher goals of both education and spiritual life.

During the busy days here at Wingate, the significance of her many contributions to our school go unnoticed. But looking back we see all these things, and in order to show our sincere appreciation we, the students of Wingate College, dedicate the 1961 GATE to you, Miss Betsy Brooks McGee.

Miss McGee is quite at home with young people. here she is shown in the company of some sophomore counselors.

"Will I be any different this year?" . . . return to Wingate . . . Same campus, but many changes . . . "How did we ever manage without the Student Union?" . . . Familiar teachers, unfamiliar courses . . . and a wail is heard, "I've forgotten how to study" . . . back into the old routine . . . "He must be trying us, that's the third pop test in two weeks." . . . Studying at the library . . . walking back from the Rec. . . . "Seems just like last year . . . Hey, did you know that Bob was engaged?" . . . and one by one the sophomores from last year get married and you wonder "will this happen to us?" . . . Suddenly you realize that there is only one semester left . . . "I'll study more this semester. I need the quality points" . . . Snow in January . . . out come the sleds and boys . . . Surely she could see that tree . . . the weather gets warmer and time gets shorter . . . the track team runs the triangle again . . . the pool opens and suntans appear . . . "Say if you get to O. D. this year, I'll be there" . . . and then you realize time is limited . . . the last weeks are packed . . . "The Gate" appears and everyone collects autographs . . . exams at last and things speed up . . . Freshmen pack and the Sophomores have their last week-end together . . . You walk down the aisle and realize that there are tears in your eyes. "I'm learning, I never dreamed that it was so soon or so final" . . . that precious bit of paper and suddenly you're on your own . . . "We've got to get together again, let's all come to Homecoming next year" . . . fond farewell, perhaps never to see each other again . . . a door has closed to the past, never to be opened again except in this book . . . YARBOROUGH

Gordon W. Yarborough, Lexington, N. C., Dormitory President 1, Advisory Group President 1, Freshman Class Vice-President 1, Training Union Vice-President 1, Student Council 1, Football 1, 2, Co-Captain 2, Baseball 1, 2, Greater Council 1, Masque and Wig 1, B.S.U. 1, 2, Phi Beta Lambda 2, "W" Club

Parting is such sweet sorrow and Glenn Dee and Judy may not see each other for at least a whole hour.

As the choir prepares to leave for a concert, George Hicks thinks soberly about their trip to the beach last year and Lanny Wilson thinks about George at the beach.

Fred seems to be more interested in photography at the Biology Club meeting than in the engrossing material that Joe Speaks is peering near-sightedly at.

Dean Gerding drove Wingate College in the hole, but some of its strongest pushers remedied the situation. Neither rain, nor snow, nor quicksand can keep the Wingate fans from their duty. Despite all their efforts though Jo was still left in the hole.

Mrs. Gaddy looks on as Mrs. Horton says: "I know I shouldn't repeat this, but . . ."

Martha McLamb, Evelyn Crant, Nancy Henry, Clay Edwards, and Iris Garcia display typical Wingate poise at having their picture made. It takes a lot to upset the dignity of our students.

OUR WINGATE MEMORIES

These scenes have a place in our memories and so that they won't dim with time, we give you a permanent record of some moments to remember.

A meeting of the buildings and grounds committee . . . hard on the buildings . . . rough on the grounds, but oh what team work.

Homecoming Decorations . . .

O. J. Sikes III displays one of his many talents in this Indian war dance.

Clem and Clam, two of Wingate's cultured professors help to develop a taste for good music in the student body by singing a classical number entitled "Confess, if You Don't Love Me" during Focus Week.

Wingate offers opportunities for everyone to develop his particular talents. This student is simply taking advantage of one such opportunity.

T H E   F R E S H M A N   C L A S S

One year gone . . . doesn't seem like it, does it? . . . remember that first day . . . what a mad scramble . . . hated to see your family go . . . "Mom, don't forget to send me my pillow, I don't know how I forgot it" . . . then the business of getting acquainted began . . . "Hi, my name is" . . . and the first few days pass . . . Orientation and you began to get into the swing of things . . . electing class officers . . . one of the first things you did as a class . . . "I'm voting for her, she's cute!" . . . registration . . . classes, classes, and more classes . . . "I have to rearrange my schedule, I don't even have a lunch period" . . . frantic rearranging and suddenly . . . "Well I have it worked out, but now I have two 8:00 o'clock classes" . . . studying late, rising early . . . so your first semester passes . . . it ends and you remember . . . "Weren't the football games fun and wasn't the week before Christmas wonderful?" . . . New semester, new dreams, and spring . . . spring fever, spring romances, baseball, green leaves, and a whole new Wingate . . . winter is a thing of the past . . . now you know everyone and Wingate is your home . . . "This year has flown, do you realize that the sophomores will soon be leaving" . . . exams . . . you pack and promise to return for graduation . . . and so you leave . . . just remember "this has been your year, remember it, treasure it, because there will never be another like it, your Freshman year at Wingate."

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union is the "parent" religious organization on the campus and is the key link connecting the college student and the church. Membership is gained by joining the Wingate Baptist Church or any of the religious organizations on campus. These organizations are the Sunday School, Baptist Training Union, Ministerial Association, and Young Women's Association. Participation in Morning Watch, Focus Week and Vespers helps students gain a mature and intelligent understanding of Christian beliefs and practices.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Mr. Ralph C. Williams
Faculty advisor to the Student Government

Carole and O. J. plan another social function for Wingate's Student Body.

This year's Student Council was one of the hardest working groups to lead Wingate College students in recent years. The primary interest of the council was the furtherance of School Spirit. Various committees were appointed who spend money and effort to promote activities in the interest of the student body.

The three officers who headed the student body this year were: Duran McDonald, President; George Hicks, Vice-President; and Martha McLamb, Secretary-Treasurer. These students did their appointed jobs largely through their work with the Student Council, which, as provided in the constitution, they also headed. They were elected in the Spring of 1960, in a very heated and close campaign.

Membership to Alpha Pi Epsilon is obtained by completing 13 semester hours of secretarial subjects with a grade of "A" or "B" of which at least 7 hours must be in shorthand or typewriting.

Interesting articles, items of interest, messages from our faculty—all these, and more, are to be found in our school paper, the Triangle.

The staff of this highly successful monthly paper are to be commended for their fine work this year. The Triangle is always eagerly awaited; teachers always know when it has been distributed before their class because of the quiet which prevails as each student strives to read as much as possible before the final bell.

It is part of a school's obligation to the students to keep them informed, and the Triangle does more than well at doing so.

Months of meetings, days of taking pictures and then hectic weeks of identifying pictures: then suddenly it's all over and everyone holds his breath and waits. "Will everything be all right?" "Did I misspell anyone's name?" "Are you sure those calluses on my fingertips aren't permanent?" Then the rumor spreads over the campus

"the Annual's come." It floats along like a breeze and everyone holds his breath. Then the big day arrives. The Gate is finally handed out and the staff draws a thankful breath. It's been fun, but our duty is done. "I hope it is as good as last year." And we fade from the scene --

The intramural program for the coeds is one of the most important parts of the total physical education program. Through this program, opportunities arise for the coeds to learn new games and sports and to improve their skills in the more familiar ones.

The Woman's Athletic Association is a campus organization open to all coeds. The purpose of W.A.A. is to provide recreational opportunities for the women students and to stimulate a friendlier atmosphere. The most outstanding event the W.A.A. sponsors is the May Day Program with the coronation of the May Queen.

The Wingate College Debate Squad had a very eventful year, and as the result of much hard work, showed up well at the five tournaments in which they participated.

The squad met teams from Pittsburgh University, Duke, William and Mary, Mississippi Southern, Carson-Newman, Gardner-Webb, Davidson, Lenoir Rhyne and East Tennessee.

All in all, it was a good year for the Wingate College Debating Squad. Several new members were added to the team, and an even greater year is expected in 1961-62 when they get the needed experience in tournament debating.

The Drive-In Club was organized to give the drive-in students a sense of belonging to Wingate College. This club helps make these students an integral part of campus life. Through the Drive-In Club, these students participate in Student Government, clubs and fraternities.

DON QUINN
Coach

September brings not only fall leaves, chilly days and the fall semester, but also football and the thud of shoulder pads amidst the cheers of fans.

Wingate started slowly, losing three games and tying one before beating Gardner-Webb and Mars Hill on consecutive Saturdays. The last game gave the Bulldogs their worst taste of defeat at the hands of Frederick Military Academy.

The team set an excellent example of sportsmanship throughout the season as they fought to second place position in final conference standings.

Coaches Bill Connell, Don Quinn and the entire squad deserve a sincere vote of thanks from the students and faculty at Wingate for representing the school so well.

Under the able direction of Coach Bill Connell, the Bulldog cagers have kept up Wingate's good basketball tradition by compiling an 11-7 record with the season still incomplete. The Bulldogs had only four men returning from last year's squad, but the new men have helped keep them high in conference standings.

The Wingate Basketball team has not only played fine ball, but has also emphasized the spirit of keen competition and fair play which characterized all Wingate athletics.

Herbert Diggs, Brazel Moore, and Yogi Yarborough make a return appearance on this year's team.

As the leaves begin to bud, the flowers bloom, and the air becomes soft and sweet with spring, our minds drift away from the icy thrill of football and the fervor of basketball and begin to focus on our national sport—baseball. There is nothing quite as exciting as sitting in a ballpark with the afternoon sun beating down on your back, waiting anxiously for that third strike, that long run, or the umpire's decision in a slide.

In the past, Wingate has always been made proud of its fine baseball team. As this annual goes to press, baseball season is still to be; however, we know that this year, as before, our team will not let us down, but go on and on . . . to victory.

WINGATE'S BENEFACTORS

Wingate College probably would not exist today . . . had it not been for a handful of people who cared. Today, we look back with gratitude and we look to the future with high hopes. All that we, the students, can say is "thank you, benefactors" but we solemnly promise that tomorrow we will not forget Wingate. We pledge to continue the work you have started as a friend and as a contributor to Wingate. Our humble thanks go out to you.

Dr. A. F. Hendricks

Dr. Smith welcomes Mrs. Cannon to our campus during one of her recent visits.

Mr. Herbert Bridges and Mr. Charles A. Cannon, two of Wingate's greatest benefactors, enjoy an interesting visit to the campus.

A C K N O W L E D G M E N T S

The staff of the 1961 Gate would like to express sincere appreciation to the Administration and Faculty for their cooperation throughout the year.

Any publication of this size would, indeed, be more difficult without the assistance of others. To the following, we wish especially to express our gratitude:

Mrs. Marjorie Bartlett of BARTLETT ASSOCIATES, Charlotte, N. C. Mrs. Bartlett, our printing representative, provided a service that evidenced a very personal interest in every phase of our book, from layout to completion. Invaluable assistance in developing our ideas, advice about layout, copy, and photography, encouragement and caution as we needed it . . . all of these, plus infinite patience and tact, are reasons for our praise.

Mr. Ralph Williams, our devoted advisor, who "pushed", advised, and aided us in solving the many problems in compiling material and scheduling photography. As we worked, throughout the year, we realized and appreciated more, the important role he played in the 1961 Gate. For this friendly, patient assistance and supervision, we are grateful.

Mr. J. C. Brumfield, of Brumfield Studios in Charlotte, N. C., official photographer for the 1961 Gate.

Mr. Charles Nall, our student photographer, who took so many of the informal shots of campus activities and student life. Pictures like these, so important, but so often omitted because of the lack of a photographer at these particular times . . . were possible for Wingate this year.

Mr. A. C. Summerville, free lance architectural and industrial photographer of Charlotte, N. C., who donated most of the beautiful photographs in our opening section. Excellent quality and effective composition . . . pictures that "tell the story of our World at Wingate" . . . this was our request and the results were gratifying! We are indebted to Mr. Summerville for this unselfish gesture and valuable contribution to the success of this publication.
